

At Camp Grayling Guard to Arrive This Saturday

This weekend will mark the start of summer training for National Guard citizen-soldiers, when a total of 3,112 will move in to use the some 194,000 acres of Camp Grayling for their annual two week encampment.

Getting an early jump on the main bodies of guardsmen, 200 men with the 460th General Supply Co. arrived this Wednesday, June 12, and will depart on June 26.

Moving in late Friday and early Saturday morning will be the 46th Engineer Group, totaling 1596 troops, plus 823 guardsmen of the 1st Battalion of the 225th Infantry, along with 142 men of Co. F, 425th Infantry (Ranger Company).

The Engineer Group consists of the 107th Battalion from the Upper Peninsula, and the 207th Battalion from southern Michigan. Around 300 men with supporting elements for the Engineers and Infantry will also be here.

Joining the Michigan guardsmen will be around 312 United States Army Reserves using the Camp Grayling facilities for their two week summer training.

A total of 14,315 guardsmen will use the camp this summer, according to Col. Edmund Rutkowski, Camp Commander. The largest contingent numbering 5,689, will be here the final 2 weeks, Aug. 3-17, Col. Rutkowski said.

The second encampment is set for the period of July 6-20, when 1,576 Michigan guardsmen will be joined by 700 U.S. Marine Corps Reserves, for a total of 2,276.

Southfield Man Near Drowning Victim In South Branch

A Southfield man was a near drowning victim Saturday June 1, about 11 a.m., about 1/2 mile inside the Crawford County line on the South Branch of the AuSable, according to Sheriff's deputies.

Edward J. Rhomberg and his son were in a canoe, one of a group of Boy Scouts on an outing, when their canoe went sideways, hitting a sweeper (tree) and capsizing. Mr. Rhomberg was knocked unconscious in the accident. Arthur Heidrich, another member of the party, dove in and pulled him out and gave him artificial respiration, reviving him. It was reported that he was unconscious for two to three minutes.

MAKE WAY FOR PARKING LOT—Demolition of the former Larson home on Peninsula Street took place last week, and joined the demise of the Scholtz home earlier, to make room for a new downtown parking lot. George Warren is shown in the photo using his log loading truck in tearing down the house. Mr. Warren used his equipment in the clearing of the two homes at no cost to the merchants or the city. With the two houses removed, site engineering is underway, with the parking lot projected to open yet this summer. The new lot will become a reality through the cooperative efforts of the Downtown Merchants Assn., the Grayling Regional Development Corp., City of Grayling, the Sheriff's Dept., and Mr. Warren. Besides his help in removing the two houses, Jerry Morford, City Manager stated, that Mr. Warren has helped the city in many other civic projects in the past, and should be commended for his help in the current project.

Playgrounds Open Monday Summer Recreation Program To Begin

The 1974 Summer Recreation Program sponsored by the Crawford AuSable Schools will get underway Monday morning, June 17 with the opening of playgrounds at the Frederic Elementary School and the Grayling Middle School. These playgrounds will be supervised eight hours a day, Monday through Friday with organized games and activities for all children who wish to take advantage. The playgrounds will open at 9:00 a.m. each morning and within a few days a regular playground schedule will be established and posted on the playground. The playgrounds are open to any children who are in the area, whether they are regular year-round residents or just visiting for the summer.

Each playground will be staffed with a competently trained person who will have charge of all activities on the playground. Much of the playground activities will center around games and activities that will be enjoyed by various age groups. Also included will be games and tournaments of individual skills for which prizes will be awarded. Also included in this year's playground schedule is a full time Arts & Crafts Program. This will be carried out by a person who will devote full time to the Arts & Crafts Programs on the playgrounds, traveling from playground to playground on a regular schedule and holding regularly scheduled arts and crafts classes on each playground.

There is no charge for any of the organized playground activities. The only charges for the entire Summer Recreation Program are the swimming fees and small individual fees to cover cost of arts & crafts materials. The overall cost of the Summer Recreation Program comes from contributions from local governments and service organizations.

Parents are encouraged to visit the playgrounds at any time and to talk to the individual playground directors about the activities on the playgrounds. Children of all age groups are encouraged to attend the playgrounds daily. Parents are also reminded [See Recreation page 12]

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

GETTING CAUGHT!

When the jelly disappeared from the refrigerator, when a baseball shattered the window, when Mother discovered the stray cat sleeping in her washbasket... like a magnetic needle the accusing finger of my parents pointed toward me.

It's a crushing experience to get caught. But it can teach us a vital lesson. We soon discover a sense of responsibility and learn our obligation to others. Our true identity emerges.

The Church stands ready to help us learn responsibility. Through religious education youth today can still discover personal identity—while gaining a responsible view of man's obligations to God and to society.

your week ahead by DR. A.W. DAMIS

Forecast Period: June 16 to June 22

ARIES
Mar. 21 - Apr. 19
Bluntly, this week might find you taking every wrong direction. It's not a good time to make a major decision—about a member of the opposite sex.

TAURUS
Apr. 20 - May 20
Remember, there is no repeal to the "Law of averages." Meaning? According to your chart, you have been doing traffic with a troublemaker... look for problems!

GEMINI
May 21 - June 20
This week you might dwell on the point of recruiting new friends, including the opposite sex. Most members of your sign have become, socially stagnant!

NOONCHILD
June 21 - July 22
As the saying goes: Good fortune sometimes takes strange avenues. Meaning? What is seemingly a blunder, will in fact, turn out to be a lucky break!

LEO
July 23 - Aug. 22
Your moodiness might upset several of your associates. Actually, a few of your bad traits will come into play, "feeding" a friend, to name one.

VIRGO
Aug. 23 - Sept. 22
Many members of your sign will find a familiar face, leaving the scene. There, also, should be several changes in your daily routine.

LIBRA
Sept. 23 - Oct. 22
Much, much too much, emphasis could be put on joining a group. Please review your motives for becoming involved in outside activities. Be honest with yourself.

SCORPIO
Oct. 23 - Nov. 21
Take special care with what you write or say over the phone. Your chart shows, a casual remark, by you, being used as the origin of malicious gossip.

SAGITTARIUS
Nov. 22 - Dec. 21
Apparently, a co-worker or routine associate feels, secretly, that your opinions affect their well being. Prepare for an unexpected reprisal, and a possible loss of cooperation.

CAPRICORN
Dec. 22 - Jan. 19
Please, don't feel secure in the "tip service" you'll receive from a close associate. Animosity lies beneath that veneer of warmth and friendliness.

AQUARIUS
Jan. 20 - Feb. 18
Many under your sign will be blessed with the good fortune of having a second chance. Meaning? A project you have neglected, will be revived.

PISCES
Feb. 19 - Mar. 20
This week, moral gains rather than material advantages are in the offering. Also an improved relationship with members of the other sex, shows in your chart.

Flag Day, 1974

At first glance, it is only a bright piece of cloth, yet men and women would die for it, immigrants cry at the sight of it, and millions revere it as the symbol of justice and freedom. To those who love life and the opportunity to carve their own destiny, it offers a representative form of government based on the dignity of the individual. To the dictator, it is an unbearable thorn in the side. In short, it is the flag of the United States.

On Flag Day, June 14, we Americans will have a chance to show our appreciation of "The Stars and Stripes" and all it stands for by displaying it from our homes and businesses. The nation behind the flag has its share of problems. But the U.S. has attained and held a status of world leadership, enhanced by the highest of living standards, without resorting to authoritarian measures. Basic to America's success has been a tremendous undercurrent of goodwill and compassion, the kind of spirit that brings a tear to the eye at the sight of school children solemnly lipping their way through the Pledge of Allegiance or our flag gently rippling against a pale blue sky. If that spirit could just be harnessed and directed into the proper channels on a global basis, mankind would never again have to fear the future.

School's Out

You know school is out when half-eaten peanut butter sandwiches appear in the most unlikely places at all hours of the day, when baseball gloves replace textbooks and cries of "What do we do NOW, Mom?" fill the air. For with the golden days of summer comes the traditional outpouring of youngsters from school buildings across the nation.

The last day of school heralds several months of "freedom," to be savored at the beach, campgrounds or maybe just the neighborhood park. For many, it means summer jobs. Whatever the seasonal school closure signifies, it is to be hoped that the youth of the USA will find time to pause and reflect upon the many blessings they enjoy simply because they are Americans. Not the least of these blessings is the right to an education.

If these young people can appreciate all that is America and build upon it constructively - taking care to blend freedom with responsibility - we will be able to entrust with confidence the future of the United States to those following behind us.

GREENSBURG, KANS., KIOWA COUNTY SIGNAL: "Apparently the Russians aren't going to sell our wheat back to us at a huge profit. At least that's the latest report out that we have read. That would be a pretty good trick to sell us back our wheat that they haven't even touched yet and make about $4.00 per bushel to boot. And we Americans are supposed to be such sharp wheelers and dealers. The USA bought Alaska from Russia for less than two cents an acre and I suppose they want to get even."

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

From Calvary Baptist Church

On Hell

If someone were walking toward the edge of a dangerous cliff and appeared unaware of their danger, would you warn them? This is exactly the position Bible Christians face concerning unsaved people and hell. The problem has been compounded by the deception of multitudes who have believed liberals and false cults who deny the Bible teaching on hell. Twisting the meaning of greek words and applying human reason and logic cannot destroy reality and make God into a liar.

1. The Bible says hell is a place of terrible pain and punishment. Those who "go into hell," go "into the fire that never shall be quenched." Mark 9:43. It is written of a certain rich man, "in hell he lifted up his eyes, being in torments." Luke 16:23. Hell is described as a "furnace of fire" in Matt. 13:42, in which there shall be "wailing and gnashing of teeth" in verse 50. Hell is described as "everlasting fire" in Matt 25:41 and Matt. 18:8. It is called "hell fire" in the next verse, Matt. 18:9. It is called "everlasting destruction" in 2 Thess 1:9.

There are actually two hells in the Bible. Hades is the present hell where all unsaved dead go. Gehenna is the future hell where all unsaved men will suffer by degrees of punishment according to their sin. No one from earth will be cast into gehenna until after the white throne judgment of Rev. 20:11-15, except the beast and False prophet of Rev. 20:10. Hades and gehenna are both translated hell in the King James translation.

2. Hell is not annihilation, but eternal torment and suffering. Hell is called a place of "everlasting punishment" in Matt. 25:46. Hell is described as a place where "the smoke of their torment ascendeth up for ever and ever; and they have no rest day nor night." Rev. 14:10. It is called a place of "everlasting destruction" in 2 Thess. 1:9. It is a place where one will be "tormented day and night for ever and ever." Rev. 20:10.

How can a person suffer eternally and not die or be destroyed? They receive bodies fitted for such punishment.

District Court

The following persons appeared before Judge Francis Walsh, 83rd District Court, and plead guilty or were found guilty by a trial:

Donald Curtis Messenheimer, 55, Holland, was charged with causing a fire and plead nolo contendere. He was fined $24.00 fines and costs.

Don Norman Riness, 55, Grayling, was charged with DUIL. This was his second offense and he was sentenced to 14 days in jail and will be on probation for 6 months.

Robert Samuel Cubbin, 17, Detroit, was charged with MIP and was fined $64.00 or 7 days in jail.

Michael Louis Medici, 17, Oak Park, was charged with MIP and was fined $64.00 or 7 days in jail.

Mark Steven Ryan, 19, Warren, was charged as being a disorderly person and plead nolo contendere. He was fined $64.00 or 7 days in jail.

Circuit Court

The following dispositions were made of criminal cases brought before the Honorable Daniel F. Walsh, Circuit Judge of the 46th Judicial Circuit.

May 28, 1974. James Hodges of Rogersville, Alabama, was assessed a fine of $150.00 and costs of $150.00 after entering a plea of nolo contendere (no contest) to a charge of sale of amphetamines.

June 3, 1974. Conrad Allen Evans of Boyne City, was sentenced to a term of 2 1/2 to 10 years in the state prison at Jackson, after pleading guilty to a charge of Breaking and Entering an unoccupied building with intent to commit a larceny.

June 4, 1974. David Bruce Woodward of Lapeer, was sentenced to 3 years probation, with the last year of probation to be served in the Crawford County Jail, after pleading guilty to a charge of Breaking and Entering an unoccupied building with intent to commit a larceny.

Typos look like this!

Once again we offer here something for readers who are dismayed at not finding any typographical errors in The Crawford Co. Avalanche. If the big dailies have so many, how come CCA has none at all, they ask (The last time we made this offer we heard immediately from dozens of picky readers who claim they found lots of typos belonging to us. But ever onward...)

A man named Earle Temple has compiled typographical errors from newspapers all over the nation (none from us, of course) and put them in a book. Just so you won't feel neglected, here are some for you selected by Jim Fitzgerald, columnist for the Avalanche.

—Miss Nell Norton entertained at a luncheon Tuesday in honor of her cousin, Miss Betty Rowen. As most of you know by now Betty is a dark eyed mess from Atlanta, Georgia. Truxton (Cal.) Bee.

—Officer J.D. Gilmner arrested the prowler after a short chase. — Wynne (Ark.) Progress.

—He operates a farm near Dover, engages in civic activities and keeps an occasional sneaking date. — Uniontown (Pa.) Standard.

Worried about closed gas stations on that trip you're planning? Maybe the fear of being stranded with an empty tank has canceled your plans? Now residents of Northeast Michigan Region or people visiting here — can take advantage of a sort of "gasoline forecast" which will give accurate weekly information about fuel availability and station hours.

The Northeast Michigan Regional Commission is one of seven planning and development commissions north of M-16 which obtain information each week by phoning more than 300 individual service stations. Harry E. Travis, executive director of Northeast Michigan Regional Commission, said the statistics developed at each regional office are fed into the state commerce department. From there the compiled information provides a "fuel forecast" for all of Northern Michigan. The information is available to the news media and to such groups as AAA and tourist agencies.

According to Travis, the first public announcement of the system covered the Memorial Day weekend. That forecast for Northern Michigan, in general, was "optimistic."

"Survey results provide good reason to be optimistic regarding gasoline supply," the state department said. "Only two percent are limiting purchases by their customers, while only one percent are experiencing lineups at the pump."

In the region-by-region analysis, Northeast Michigan Region anticipated 91 percent of its stations open; 50 percent until 9 p.m. and 17 percent until midnight.

Travis said the Northeast Michigan Regional Commission staff in Rogers City set up the regional reporting system by visiting each of the participating station managers in person. The response was "Enthusiastic — when owners realized this was not just another government survey, but a real service to the driving public."

Lansing Report

by Rep. Ralph Ostling

A bill giving Michigan residents an opportunity to register to vote at the Secretary of State's drivers license examining offices has passed the House of Representatives and is currently being considered by the Senate Committee on Municipalities and Elections. There are an estimated 1.2 million otherwise qualified electors in the state who are unable to vote because they are not registered. There are an unknown number who have moved out of the political unit in which they are registered and have not re-registered in their new location.

According to the Secretary of State's office, local clerks have literally begged for assistance in removing "deadwood" from the registration rolls, a process that has been denied them by recent Supreme Court decisions holding the "cancellation-for-failure-to-vote" procedure unconstitutional.

Following the introduction of the bill several public hearings were held throughout the state and numerous conferences were held with local clerks and other election officials.

In brief the bill works as follows:

Everyone who appears at a drivers license examining office will be given the opportunity to register to vote or to change his registration address at that time. If he elects to accept the opportunity, his application will be forwarded to his local clerk, either directly or through the county clerk depending on the size of the municipality in which he lives.

When received, the local clerk will determine whether or not the applicant has the qualifications of an elector and, if so, register him and forward a voter identification card to him.

If the voter changes his address the application also authorizes a cancellation of former registration which is then forwarded to the clerk of his former residence.

Details of this procedure include the signing of an oath at the driver licensing station by the applicant which is forwarded to the local clerk to be attached to the registration records, allowing for signature comparison at the precinct when the voter appears. The procedure would also provide for the forwarding of this oath and registration information by the local clerk to any village or school units which may have their own registration rolls.

The bill also provides that local clerks may establish an active and inactive voter registration file. The inactive will contain those names of electors who have failed to vote for four years. These inactive electors would not be considered by the clerk in determining the size of precincts or equipment needed at a polling place. After six years on the inactive list a presumption is created by statute that the elector has moved out of the community and the clerk may institute proceedings under the election law to remove the name from the registration roll.

Additionally the bill specifically mandates the Secretary of State to notify local clerks of changes of addresses and death notices of drivers license holders regardless of whether or not they avail themselves of the opportunity to register when appearing at the drivers license station. It also provides that the Secretary of State notify the local clerk when a person moves to another state.

House Bill 4240 is designed to make it easier for citizens to register to vote; it assists local clerks in the maintenance of up-to-date registration rolls; it utilizes the existing technical equipment and field personnel of the Department of State and it has been carefully worded to eliminate the possibility of fraud and to be administratively workable.

LITTLE ONES BRING BIG GIFT FOR UNICEF

"And this makes it $90 million," says 6-year-old Alex Mera, as he hands UN Secretary General Kurt Waldheim a check for $7,000,000 payable to the United Nations Children's Fund. The contribution brings to more than $90 million the total raised by the U.S. Committee for UNICEF in the past 21 years from the annual "Trick or Treat" collection by American youngsters on Halloween, the sale of UNICEF greeting cards, and individual and corporate gifts. Rachel Boschen, 4, expresses her approval of helping children of the developing world through UNICEF.

County Commissioners - EMTA Hold Tourism Workshop

Houghton Lake—The energy situation which pinpointed national attention to the tourism industry of Michigan and the United States this past winter has sparked new interest by counties served by the East Michigan Tourist Association.

At a workshop meeting of county commissioners held at Houghton Lake June 6, commissioners recommended to tourist association officers that county government become more directly involved in Michigan's state and regional tourism marketing programs.

A permanent County Commissioner Advisory Board to serve the tourist association was specifically proposed by resolution, to be made up of one commissioner from each of the 29 counties served by the EMTA. The objectives defined included increased communications between tourism groups and county boards of commissioners; direct assistance of counties in regional promotion projects and involvement of local government in tourism facility development including environmental quality factors with the EMTA.

A second resolution called for representation of county government on the association's board of Directors; a third called for a regular annual conference to be held in conjunction with the tourist association's annual convention in October. Resolutions will be presented to the EMTA Board of Directors for action at their June 20th meeting in Alpena.

Earl Longworth, of Grayling, a member of the EMTA board of directors elected a year ago, presided at the workshop. Longworth is chairman of the Crawford County Board of Commissioners.

EMTA president, Richard Schluckbier, of Frankenmuth, challenged the commissioners by stating that county boards, while financially supporting EMTA, had not had active participation in EMTA promotional activities and internal affairs. He reported that 27 of the 29 counties were 1974 members of the association. Special efforts are being made now to make it 100% participation. County government supports 11 per cent of the EMTA budget.

The workshop included orientation to current EMTA and Michigan Tourist Council promotional programs presented by the EMTA staff, including review of print advertising samples and literature used in 1974 state, regional travel marketing efforts. Much of the discussion involved the impact of the gasoline situation which hurt East Michigan tourist business by about 15 per cent this past winter.

Attending the workshop were Ed Blue, Lapeer County; Jack Van Sickle, Cheboygan County; Wayne Bates, Midland County; Harold Forman, Roscommon County; Carl Tischler, Montmorency County; Mrs. Alton Reed, Clinton County; Gordon Whitney, Oscoda County; and Longworth.

Mrs. Nina Buell, past president of EMTA and chairman of its executive committee, from Lewiston, attended along with Jerry Fairbanks, of Rogers City, of the Northeast Michigan Regional Planning Commission. EMTA staff members attending included James Hall, John North and Al Smith, all of Bay City and Wayne Clark of Gladwin.

What's Cooking In Michigan

by Larrestine Trimm
Michigan Department of Agriculture
Marketing Information Specialist

Pick your own strawberries this season! On Michigan farms throughout the state, it's strawberry picking time. Harvest begins about June 1 in the southern lower peninsula and follows the season north, reaching the U.P. in early July.

Michigan is fifth nationally in strawberry production. Last year's crop totaled 15 million pounds, valued at over $4.7 million, according to Marketing officials of the Michigan Department of Agriculture. Of this, nearly $3.3 million came from fresh market sales.

Leading strawberry production counties are Berrien, Van Buren, Leelanau and Manistee, but you'll find strawberry patches nearly everywhere.

Michigan growers offer the following tips to berry pickers. Pick only those berries that are red all over. Berries with white tips are underripe and will not ripen after being picked.

Grasp the stem just above the berry with your thumb and forefinger. Pull with a slight twisting motion to break the stem about a half inch from the berry.

Leave cap attached to berry as this seals in juice and retains flavor and nutrients, especially Vitamin C. Refrigerate the berries, unwashed, until just before serving. Wash the berries before removing the hulls and serve or use promptly.

Nutritionists say strawberries are low in calories, only about 28 per half cup, which supplies one-half of the adult daily requirement of Vitamin C, calcium, iron and riboflavin.

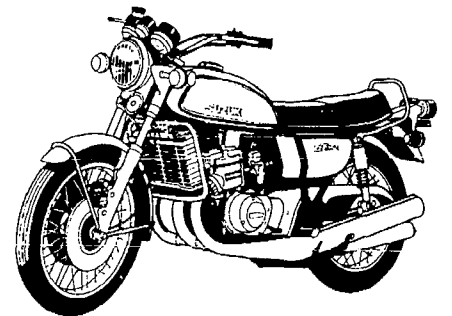

For a quick lift in the morning, serve nutritious Strawberry - Orange Wake up for breakfast. To make, put the following ingredients in an electric blender and beat until smooth: one cup of fresh strawberries, one cup orange juice, an egg, 1/2 cup instant dry milk solids, and 1/2 cup water. Makes four servings.

Personalized Plate Sale Shifts Into High Gear

LANSING—Do your license plates reflect the real you? If not, here's your chance to do something about it and at the same time strike an effective blow for highway litter removal.

Secretary of State Richard H. Austin reminds Michigan motorists... those with a yen to customize their plates... that they have only until June 30 to order personalized plates for next year.

Applications are available at all local offices of the Secretary of State and at many banks throughout the state.

These plates, which went on sale for the first time last year, carry individual identifications from initials, names, to pet sayings and slogans.

Awarded on a first-come, first-serve basis, the personalized license plates cost $25 above the normal license plate cost. They will be mailed to owners after Nov. 15, the date when all other plates for 1975 go on sale, according to Austin.

No two sets of plates will be the same. As requests are received they are computer checked to avoid any duplication.

Last year, nearly 4,000 Michigan motorists purchased personalized plates. Revenue went into a special Highway Department fund used for highway litter clean up.

Motorists buying personalized license plates may keep slogans on their cars year after year by simply renewing their applications or until they no longer desire the unusual license plates and fail to renew.

Those who already have 1974 personalized plates have been sent renewal applications for 1975, and renewals are starting to come in to Lansing.

Others wishing to purchase plates for next year may do so by submitting an application, together with a check or money order for the proper amount of money, and three choices.

If the individuals first choice has been taken, they are given their second choice, or third choice. If all three have already been awarded, then the individual is personally contacted to see if there is any other message desired.

Motorists may obtain any combination of six letters and numbers as long as they do not match an existing Michigan license plate. Objectionable and obscene words are not permitted.

"I am very happy to report that out of the nearly 4,000 personalized license plate applications received by our office last year, we had to reject only about a half dozen because they were offensive," Austin said.

"Not one of those rejected last year were obscene English words, either, but rather they were objectionable or 'blue' words in a foreign language," he said.

"The majority of motorists purchased personalized plates containing their initials while many others contained first or last names, cities, or some short form of company or occupation identification," Austin said.

"There also were many clever slogans and sayings on the license plates. We hope to see more of them this year. There are many people in Michigan that have great imaginations," he said.

Make your love public

It is not enough that a guy tell his doll he loves her. He should also tell the world. Then the doll will be his sex object forever, no matter how late he gets home for dinner.

You read about Dan Edelstein and Mary Ann Snider. He took her to see the Braves and the Phillies play baseball in Atlanta. At the end of the 3rd inning she looked up at the scoreboard and there, in the same huge letters used to count Henry Aaron's home runs, it said: "Mary Ann, I love you. Will you marry me?" — Dan Edelstein.

Immediately, Mary Ann gave Dan a lingering smooch while thousands applauded. At the end of the 4th inning, the scoreboard announced that Mary Ann had accepted. More applause. By declaring his love publicly, Dan had made Mary Ann an instant celebrity. Little boys asked for her autograph and envious women leaned close to sniff the scent that had turned a normal male into an adoring slave.

Mary Ann was so delighted with Dan's proposal she didn't even time his absence when he went to get a beer during the 7th inning and didn't return until the last of the 9th.

Which is what this is all about, guys. Forget Ann Landers. I am here with the best advice on how to be happy though married. If your wife does her cleaning in the nude, Ann Landers will simply advise you to close the drapes. What does she care if your wife is a street cleaner? That's not the kind of sloppy advice you get from me.

On your wedding anniversary, don't take your wife out to a candlelight dinner. That's ho-hum stuff and besides, when you light the candle the other diners laugh and honk their horns at you.

The thing to do is buy a full-page ad in the local newspaper. In big red letters say something like: "Thank you, Susie Glutz, 1854 Elm St., for 19 years of wedded bliss. You are the most wonderful, beautiful wife in the world and I love you now more than ever. If it weren't for the opening of trout season, I would certainly be with you on this anniversary of the most important day of my life — Arnold Glutz."

Another idea is to get an airplane to tow your message of love over the ballpark during a World Series game ("When you say Susie Glutz, You've said it all!"). Or paint the overpass. Use a billboard, or a disc jockey. Rent space on Howard Cosell's forehead. The possibilities are limitless.

The important thing to remember is there is no real romance in whispering. When you tell her you love her, shout and turn hand-springs. Do anything to attract public attention. Your wife wants the woman next door to come over and ask to borrow a cup of aphrodisiac.

Don't ask me why women are that way. I can't know everything. It's probably some kind of backlash from closing too many drapes. Ask Ann Landers. The important thing is that all husbands learn this guaranteed formula for becoming household heroes who can get away with anything if they hire a skywriter to make their apologies.

My wife Pat likes to drive to the St. Clair River bank and watch the lake freighters go by, just a few yards away. My plan is to have my love message printed along the side of the biggest boat on the Great Lakes. Something like: "I'll always stand Pat."

ALMANACK

Richard Milliman

Hunsinger is a regular Jo

State Rep. Jo Hunsinger of Detroit is fighting a rather strange battle these days.

That's Jo Hunsinger as in Josephine and not Joe Hunsinger as Joseph.

The difference is part of the reason why her story is interesting. Jo Hunsinger has been in the Michigan Legislature for going on 20 years now—in fact, she was first elected from her Detroit district way back in 1954.

Normally she's a rather reserved grandmother-type; in point of fact, she is a grandmother to the third degree or so.

Her service in the Michigan Legislature has been satisfactory, but not especially distinguished; by that I mean there is no Hunsinger Act, denoting a lasting piece of law, as far as I know. But Jo Hunsinger has always done her job, adequately and respectfully.

You might say she's been a regular Jo.

This year Mrs. Hunsinger wants to be promoted by the voters. She has announced her intentions to succeed U.S. Rep. Martha Griffiths, another Democrat, who first was elected to Congress in the same 1954 election that sent Jo Hunsinger to Lansing.

Mrs. Griffiths has announced she won't run again because she wants to spend more time with her husband and her dog, Yuki—a point upon which this column has already commented.

This year Mrs. Hunsinger is getting a bit more attention than usual, part of which, no doubt, reflects her congressional ambitions.

But the point which catches the attention of the Almanack could well be counter-productive, to use a currently vogueish term. At least it appears rather counter-productive on the surface.

Mrs. Hunsinger is fighting to rescind Michigan's legislative approval of the Equal Rights Amendment to the United States Constitution.

Michigan is one of 30-some states which have granted legislative approval for amendment of the federal constitution with a legal device designed by its promoters to remove any vestige of sexual discrimination in our national constitution.

A vehicle to change Michigan's mind on its earlier approval of the constitutional amendment, was considered this spring by the House Committee for Constitutional Revision and Women's Rights. But the committee voted 5-4 against reporting out the resolution opposing the Equal Rights Amendment.

Leading the fight was Rep. Josephine Hunsinger.

Without getting into the merits of the resolution, it is interesting to note that it is a woman — the Hon. Josephine Hunsinger of Detroit — who is leading the right to repeal Michigan approval of the ERA.

And it is also interesting to note that this same Mrs. Hunsinger is placing her political life on the line this year with her run for Congress.

It is obvious to me that these two points are somehow related. It is also obvious that Mrs. Hunsinger tells her support of the former will not harm her pursuit of the latter.

"Hm-m-m-m-m-m-m." This is a situation that bears watching.

FREDERIC SECOND GRADERS—The students in Mrs. Carole Batway's 2nd grade at Frederic participated in a very practical learning experience recently. To culminate lessons in Math on liquid measurement, temperature, and time the class baked gingerbread. Dividing the class into three groups and each group making a batch of gingerbread provided for more individual participation. Interest in gingerbread was further stimulated throughout the year in the Ginn Reading series when stories were read pertaining to gingerbread. Shown in the picture is the group enjoying an afternoon snack of gingerbread with Cool Whip. This was the second time the class enjoyed a tasty learning experience. During the winter, homemade ice cream was prepared and enjoyed by the group. Many of the children had never eaten either gingerbread or homemade ice cream.

Secretary Attends MSU Conference

East Lansing—Lillian Higgins, secretary in the office of the Crawford - Roscommon County Cooperative Extension Service, was at Michigan State University June 5-6 for the annual Extension County Secretary's Conference.

Although similar conferences have been held in previous years, this was the first time the event took place on the MSU campus.

More than 60 secretaries from Extension offices throughout the state took part in the conference. Wednesday's program featured discussions relating to professional improvement, leadership and communication in the office. On Thursday, the secretaries were given a bus tour of points of interest on the MSU campus, including research facilities, living-learning complexes, and the university's administrative offices.

Two major productions are planned for next year as well as a Christmas project and a children's play, tentatively planned for February.

The group is constantly reading scripts for the future. Any suggestions are welcome and interested people are invited to attend the readings. If interested, please contact Beryl Konopnicki at 348-7376.

The next meeting will be the first Monday of the month, July 1, at 7 p.m. at the Hotel. Everyone is welcome.

Know Your Michigan Law

By Attorney General
Frank J. Kelley

Voters throughout the state will go to the polls this November to elect their county commissioners. Because a Board of County Commissioners has the power to determine how money will be spent by the county, this is an important local election.

Candidates for county commissioner must be 18 years old and a resident and registered voter of the county in which he or she runs for office. In order to appear on the November ballot, a person must be nominated by a political party. Because of the large number of votes received by the Democratic and Republican parties in past elections, individuals who seek nomination from either of these parties must compete in the primary election.

There are two procedures which may be used in order to insure a place on the primary ballot of either the Democratic or Republican party. The first is to pay a $100 filing fee at the county clerk's office which will be returned if the candidate receives the highest or next highest number of votes at the primary election. All other candidates must forfeit the $100. The second procedure is to file nominating petitions with the county clerk which contain signatures of registered voters in the county. The number of signatures must be not less than one percent, nor more than four percent, of the number of votes cast in the district for the Secretary of State elected in the last general election.

The deadline for filing the nominating petitions or fee is June 18; the primary election is August 6.

Pest Control Essential For Successful Harvest

By Willard Bosserman,
County Extension Director

If you are like most backyard gardeners, you planted just enough vegetables for your family, and did not include insects when planning the number of mouths to feed.

Insects will attack your vegetable plants from both under ground and above ground, and must be controlled if you are to enjoy the fruits of your labor.

It is essential to properly identify the insect and use an insecticide designed to control that particular insect. In order for insecticides to work, they must be used where the insect does the damage. Apply the chemical only where the insects are feeding.

Underground insects (maggots, white grubs, wireworms, cutworms) will feed on the roots of vegetables.

Onion, cabbage and seed-corn maggots overwinter in the soil. In the spring, the adult flies emerge and deposit the eggs which hatch in mid to late May. The maggots feed on the plant roots in the spring. To prevent damage, apply Diazinon or Chlordane in the seed furrow and cover the seed lightly with soil. Dip the roots of transplants in a Chlordane solution at the time of transplanting, or pour one-third cup Diazinon solution around the base and stems after transplanting.

Cutworms are one and one-quarter to one and one-half inch long, brown to black in color and mottled with yellow, brown or white. A solution of Methoxychlor and Malathion will control them. Apply the solution around the base of the plants.

Aboveground insects feed on the foliage of your vegetables. Tomatoes are often attacked by cutworms, aphids, hornworms and fruitworms.

To control cutworms on tomato plants, apply Sevin or Thiodan to the soil surface when you set the plants out and repeat the application weekly for two or more weeks. Aphids can be controlled with Malathion, Diazinon or Thiodan. Begin applications as soon as you notice the aphids and repeat as needed. Hornworms and fruitworms can be picked off. If an insecticide is needed, use Sevin following the directions on the label carefully.

Insects attacking your sweet corn (corn borer, aphids, corn earworm, flea beetles) can be controlled with Sevin or Diazinon.

Peppers are a taste delight for aphids and corn borers. Begin treating the undersides of the leaves with Malathion in early June to control aphids. Add Sevin to either Malathion or Diazinon and apply in early August to control the corn borer. Treat your pepper plants every five to seven days until frost.

Cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli and brussels sprouts are often attacked by aphids and cabbage worms. Malathion or Diazinon will control aphids.

Always be sure to read and follow the directions on the labels of insecticides. Note all warnings and cautions before beginning your pesticide program.

Jack Pine's Stump

The other night I was awakened from a deep sleep by the voice of the son who lives me (the one I call My Keeper) asking if I was awake. Well, by then of course I was. He said there was a surprise for me. "O.K.," I said and went back to sleep while he went to the bathroom or to make a sandwich or something. Pretty soon he awakened me again asking if I had seen the surprise. I told him no, and what time was it? "Four A.M.," he replied. That did it; I went back to sleep. Come the dawn, the alarm went off, and I set about doing the urgent and immediate chores I usually do first off, even making coffee. Then I glanced into his room and in that massive waterbed he calls a playing field were two bodies. This was a bit unnerving, so I looked closer and found it was my son in the Navy. He had been given leave and the two boys had decided to surprise the Old Man. Well, they certainly did. During the past few days we have had a great time, and I can't get over the changes in Pat. He's all grown up, clean, neat and well-behaved. He also has money of his own to spend now. He likes the Navy and from what he says the Navy likes him. What more could a father ask?

-JP-

Jack Pine spent most of last week guiding fly fishermen on the AuSable, an occupation which I dearly love. Fishing was a little bit worse than horrible, except for one day on the South Branch, so conversation was the order of the day. And one of the main topics of discussion was the story - or rumor-that Scientific Anglers, the Midland firm which manufactures excellent lines and rods, would no longer warrant lines which were used on automatic reels or used with the Skunk fly. This would be an incredible blunder, we all agreed, but could be possible. Many trout purists do not approve of the Skunk, which was devised locally many years ago by the late Earl Madsen, and look down their noses at those of us who use and believe in it. Likewise, most purists do not approve of the automatic reel. In fact a story even appeared last year in The North Woods Call about AuSable river guides who use automatics. The article called them "Zing Fishermen," claiming the guides would cast over a log, catch a fish and then, using the automatic, zing the trout up to the boat. Scientific Anglers, before its recent sale to the 3M Company, had its share of purists - and also sold the excellent English-made Hardy crank reel.

Anyway, since I use Scientific equipment myself and promote its use to everyone I fish with, I decided to check with the horse's mouth to see whether the Company had changed into the other end of a horse. "Absolutely not true!" said Sales Manager Bill Fraser hotly. "Thank God for that," I said. No change in Scientific Anglers warranty has been made or is being contemplated. And the only reason I write this whole dreary story is because the rumor has become so widespread in the Grayling area - not because I expect anything free from the Company.

One day last week I listened in utter amazement as a local radio newsmen mentioned a brawl which had taken place in a local drinking establishment. What amazed me was the fact that the name of the place itself was mentioned. While there is no law against it, common sense would indicate that that sort of publicity can be nothing but detrimental to the man's business. And common decency should say a loud "No!" to such sort of reporting. I do know what proper news reporting is supposed to be, and, friends, that ain't proper. No way.

FOR SENIOR CITIZENS Bill Passed For Property Tax Credits

The unmarried surviving spouse of a person eligible for senior citizen property tax credits will more than likely have some money coming, reports State Representative Ralph Ostling (R-Roscommon). Representative Ostling explained that SB 1219 which has passed both houses and is awaiting the Governor's signature changes the language relative to surviving spouses who would be eligible for senior citizen property tax credits so that the unmarried surviving spouse of a person who died after reaching age 65 would also be eligible for the senior citizen credit.

"The beautiful thing about this legislation," Mr. Ostling said, "is that it was made retroactive to the 1973 tax year."

"As soon as the Governor signs this bill into law, the surviving unmarried spouse of a person who was eligible for the tax credit should file an amended tax return to receive additional tax credit," he added.

Under the present law a surviving, unmarried spouse had to also be 65 in order to receive the senior citizen tax credit.

"We don't know how many people in the state will receive benefits by this change in the law and I would urge all surviving spouses of persons who previously qualified under the Homestead Exemption Act to find out whether or not they are eligible for additional tax credit," Representative Ostling concluded.

Marriage Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Chet Orlikowski of Detroit were the couple's attendants.

A wedding luncheon was held at the San Sheri Restaurant for those attending following the ceremony. After a short honeymoon trip to the Upper Peninsula, they will reside in Grayling.

Fellowship To Kirtland Instructor

Kirtland Community College, Roscommon, Michigan, announced recently that Peter J. Ciucci, instructor of history, has been granted a year's leave of absence to accept a National Endowment Fellowship for the 1974-75 academic year. The purpose of the Endowment's Fellowship, which carries a stipend of $10,000 for an eight month period of study, is to enable college teachers to undertake humanistic studies that will increase their understanding of the subjects they teach. Fellows are selected on the basis of their ability and promise as teachers and interpreters of the humanities.

Mr. Ciucci has been accepted in the Horace H. Rackham School of Graduate Studies at the University of Michigan and will undertake a course of study in the University's Asian Studies Program. The Asian Studies Program employs a multidisciplinary approach to the study of Asian cultures, emphasizing each Asian culture as an interrelated system of values, patterns and institutions. This approach, with history as its core, allows for special emphasis on the motivation for, nature of, and scope of change in each society. Since the Asian Studies Centers within the Program represent a considerable integration of faculty and courses drawn from various academic departments throughout the University, an opportunity is provided to develop a broad approach to understanding change in modern China and Japan as well as an effective basis from cross-cultural analysis.

Along with the Endowment's Fellowship, Robert A. Stenger, President of Kirtland, will recommend that Ciucci receive a faculty development grant. Ciucci has been an instructor at Kirtland since 1968 when the College opened. In addition to his formal teaching responsibilities, Ciucci has been involved in various activities relating directly to instruction and faculty affairs such as: Chairman, Faculty Selection Committee; Chairman, Curriculum Committee; Faculty Advisor to the Student Senate; President, Faculty Senate; Coordinator, North Central Status Study Report.

Mr. Ciucci is a graduate of Houghton High School in Houghton, Michigan and received his A.A. from Suomi College and his B.A. and M.A. from Northern Michigan University. Ciucci, his wife Helen and sons Michael and Joseph will move to Ann Arbor from Roscommon in late August.

What is Kirtland Community College

Kirtland Community College is a two-year, co-educational community college, established in 1966 for residents of Crawford, Ogemaw, Oscoda and Roscommon Counties. The four counties are the tax base which supports and owns the college and the facilities.

The campus is located centrally in the four-county area. The nearest town, Roscommon is 10 minutes travel West, and St. Helen is 10 minutes South on F-97.

The campus is on a 160 acre heavily wooded site. Location of the campus affords students and faculty a natural, quiet and beautiful setting for education.

Kirtland's purpose is to provide opportunities for post high school students who desire to further their education. Skill training is heavily emphasized along with the Associate of Arts program. Course credits from Kirtland are recognized at four-year colleges and universities. The college is student oriented, the student is the center of instruction.

Kirtland adheres to an open door admission policy whereby all high school graduates or non-high school graduates 18 years of age or older, who have completed an equivalency examination, may be admitted.

Kirtland welcomes visits from parents, relatives and friends of students or prospective students.

What Kirtland Has to Offer

Daily increases in the cost of living have a strong influence on parents' decisions concerning higher education of their children. Kirtland Community College recognizes the financial burdens on families and attempts to offer the best in education for the least cost to the parent.

Kirtland's programs and courses are designed to give Kirtland Community College District students the best education possible with the greatest savings possible.

According to a leading economist the two-year junior college, where students can attend classes and live and work at home, can represent a savings of $3,000 annually in their education.

Tuition at Kirtland is the lowest permitted by the state legislature. The low tuition rate plus the exceptional educational opportunities enable students in the district, and the state, to receive a quality education at the least cost.

For advance study or a bachelors degree the student can transfer credits earned at Kirtland and apply them toward higher degrees. This is guaranteed because Kirtland is a signatory of the MACRAO Agreement.

Kirtland Offers Education- Careers

Kirtland Community College was carved out of a natural forest section north of St. Helen. Until the modern building structures appeared and the campus began to take shape most visitors to the area had no conception of how beautiful the final product would be. The center building (which is most easily identified) is the student center. To the upper right of the student center are classrooms and the instructors' offices. Directly above the student center is the library and to the upper left of the Student Center is the auditorium and technical program classrooms.

Each spring Kirtland students turn the years back and pick up axes, bits, crosscut saws and canoes to test their skills. The fun happens on Pioneer Day. The records set by students in 1974 wouldn't be impressive to students of 100 years ago, but the fun of the contest is the same. Kirtland has many activities during the year for students. Plays, concerts, and club activities offer a wide range of extra curricular activities.

Bentley Scholarships Granted For Use At Kirtland

The Alvin M. Bentley Foundation has announced that Thomas Kleinert and Tamara Sivrais have received scholarship awards from the Alvin M. Bentley Foundation for use at Kirtland Community College for the academic year 1974-75. The scholarships amount to $250 for each award and is one year in duration.

Tamara Sivrais is a graduate of Mackinaw City High School and Thomas Kleinert is a graduate of Pineconing High School.

The foundation has granted scholarships on a state wide basis in the amount of $50,000 for 1974-75 and its commitment for the school year will bring total contributions of $750,000 during the administration of its scholarship program. Scholarships were given again this year to students who had graduated or were graduating from Michigan high schools and who applied for the scholarships at the 65 Michigan institutions receiving the grants. Selection of the winners was made by the scholarships committees of the colleges and universities.

Michigan educational institutions will benefit from the foundation's program "to administer funds for science, education and charitable projects." In addition to the scholarship program, foundation trustees have made grants in furtherance of the other objectives of the foundation.

Alumni News

(by Clara Sorenson)

Last week we added 125 to our Alumni List and lost an old friend, Grace Jennings Gokey, class of '06. She may have been the last survivor of her class, but we need to verify Bessie Ayers, Ole Johnson and Helen Johnson Mennee, all of '06. A big thank you to Mrs. Harvey Rowland and her typing class for working on envelopes.

June 22 is the date set for dedication of the new football field.

Anyone know addresses for Arnold Tebbets and Betty Nellist Daggen, class of '39; and Ioma Hausman, class of '59? We can't find Cora Michelson Tunison, class of '12, last known to be in California.

Handgun Transporting Law Changed

Sportsmen can once again carry their handguns to and from hunting or target shooting without fear of violating Michigan Laws following the signing of S.B. 1186 by Governor William G. Milliken April 1.

However, there are some new stipulations in the new law they should be aware of, reported Roger Wenk, president of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs.

"Provisions in the new law sponsored by Senator Oscar Bouwsma, (R), Muskegon, now require that persons transporting a handgun have in their possession either a concealed weapons permit, a valid Michigan hunting license or a valid membership in an organization having pistol shooting range facilities," Wenk said.

If any of these three stipulations are met, a handgun may be transported legally in a vehicle if unloaded, wrapped or in a container and in the trunk. In the case of vehicles without trunks, the pistol may be transported in the passenger compartment if unloaded, wrapped or in a container and not accessible to the occupants.

"I believe sportsmen will be happy to comply with the new law," Wenk said. "We want to be allowed to use our handguns for recreational purposes only. If the new law will aid law enforcement officials in doing a better job of curbing illegal handgun use and sales, we're all for it."

The law was given immediate effect by the Legislature. It also exempts antique weapons built prior to 1898 or replicas.
